Re: Request for Information Pursuant to Section 104 of CERCLA
for RRG/Clayton Chemical Company Superfund Site, 1 Mobile Avenue in Sauget, St. Clair County, Illinois

Dear Sir or Madam:

This letter seeks your cooperation in providing information and documents relating to the contamination of the RRG/Clayton Chemical Co. Superfund Site at 1 Mobile Avenue, Sauget, Illinois ("Site"). A Superfund site is a site contaminated with high levels of hazardous substances that may present a threat to human health and/or the environment.

We encourage you to give this matter your immediate attention and request that you provide a complete and truthful response to this Information Request and attached questions (Attachment B) within seven (7) days of your receipt of this letter.

The United States Environmental Protection Agency ("U.S. EPA") is investigating the release or threat of release of hazardous substances, pollutants, or contaminants at the Site. U.S. EPA is seeking to obtain information concerning the generation, storage, treatment, transportation, and methods used to dispose of such substances that have been, or threaten to be, released from the Site. U.S. EPA will study the effects of these substances on the environment and public health. In addition, U.S. EPA will identify activities, materials, and parties that contributed to contamination at the Site. U.S. EPA believes that you might have information which may assist the Agency in its investigation of the Site.

The RRG/Clayton Chemical Company Superfund Site (Site or Clayton) is a closed Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA) facility located in Sauget, IL (St. Clair County). The Site facility processed hazardous substances and other materials, for the recycling and recovery of primarily used solvents between approximately 1961 and 1998. In 1998, the Clayton facility lost its State of Illinois Permit for RCRA operations. Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) records indicate that a number of corporate and other entities were involved with the operation of the Site facility, as Clayton Chemical Co. between 1961 and 1996. Between 1996 and 1998, the facility was operated by a different group of parties under the name Resource Recovery Group (RRG). In 2001, IEPA requested U.S. EPA assistance in cleaning up the Site. According to records of the IEPA, and information developed in the course of U.S. EPA investigation, Parties and Entities with a history of financial or legal operation, ownership or partnership control of the Site included: Clayton Chemical Company, Clayton Chemical Co. Acquisition, LLC, Specialty Waste, Environmental Operations, Inc., RRG, and Clayton Chemical Co.

U.S. EPA is also interested in unique generators at the Site, such as Koch Industries, Inc.

A preliminary site assessment conducted in June 2001 by U.S. EPA determined that storage and leaking of hazardous liquid materials (and the presence of contaminated soil) at the Site presented an imminent hazard to human health and the environment because of the threat of fire, explosion, and/or other uncontrolled and potentially catastrophic release or threat of release of hazardous substances. Therefore, U.S. EPA is addressing the liquids contamination first, and then the soils contamination as a separate activity at the Site. U.S. EPA used public funds to perform the Site investigation.

Description of Legal Authority

The federal "Superfund" law (the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act, 42 U.S.C. §9601, et seq., commonly referred to as "CERCLA" and "Superfund") gives U.S. EPA the authority to, among other things: (1) assess contaminated sites, (2) determine the threats to human health and the environment posed by each site, and (3) clean up those sites in the order of the relative threats posed by each.

Information Request

Under Section 104(e)(2) of CERCLA, 42 U.S.C. §9604(e)(2), U.S. EPA has broad information gathering authority which allows U.S. EPA to require persons to furnish information or documents relating to:

(A) The identification, nature, and quantity of materials which have been or are generated, treated, stored, or disposed of at a vessel or facility or transported to a vessel or facility.

(B) The nature or extent of a release or threatened release of a hazardous substance or pollutant or contaminant at or from a vessel or facility.

(C) Information relating to the ability of a person to pay for or to perform a cleanup.

While U.S. EPA seeks your cooperation in this investigation, compliance with the Information Request is required by law. Please note that false, fictitious, or fraudulent statements or representations may subject you to civil or criminal penalties under federal law.

Some of the information U.S. EPA is requesting may be considered by you to be confidential. Please be aware that you may not withhold the information upon that basis. If you wish U.S. EPA to treat the information confidentially, you must advise U.S. EPA of that fact by following the procedures outlined in Attachment A, including the requirement for supporting your claim for confidentiality.

If you have information about other parties who may have information which may assist the Agency in its investigation of the Site or may be responsible for the contamination at the Site, that information should be submitted within the time frame noted above.

This Information Request is not subject to the approval requirements of the Paperwork Reduction Act of 1995, 44 U.S.C. §3501 et seq.

Instructions on how to respond to the questions in Attachment B to this document are described in Attachment A. Your response to this Information Request should be mailed to:
